18 August 2009 - The Hayner Hoyt Corporation recently broke ground on a major renovation project at Oswego Hospital. When completed, approximately 35,000 square feet will be renovated and more than 3,000 square feet will have been added to the healthcare facility.

The project includes the construction of a new state-of-the art emergency department, as well as the expansion of several key first-floor departments including imaging, the switchboard area, admitting, and medical records. In addition, the laboratory will move to a larger space on the hospital's third floor.

During construction the emergency room and other hospital departments will remain operational.
